SENDS $2.00 FOR SMOKES—Some resident of Clarendon Front, who for reasons of his own, withholds his name, has forwarded THE EQUITY the sum of two dollars to be applied to the Soldiers' Tobacco Fund. His letter appears in another column. Many thanks, friend, whoever you are.

Those who have not contributed anything to this object are reminded that our lists are still open. Any sum will be thankfully received and acknowledged.

Red Cross Donations

In last week's list of donations from H. M. Clubs, a list credited to No. 5 School Children, should have been credited to No. 2 School, Austin, except the item of 35 knitted face cloths, which were sent in by No. 3 School, Stark's Corners.

The Carnival

The carnival held on Monday night was a greater success than many expected, as preparations therefor seemed to have been carried on very quietly. A large number appeared in costume, and there were also many spectators. The following is a list of the prize-winners:

Lady's Fancy—Miss Waddell
" Comic—Mrs. R. Woodley

Gent's Fancy—Mr. McMullan
" Comic—Mr. R. Ann

Girl's fancy—Misses Daisy Caldwell, Josie Barnett, Jean Hodgins. Boy's representative—F. Finnigan.

Boy's comic—Sandford Hodgins. Ladies' Group—Misses McCredie, Loney and Duncan.

Boys' Group—"Ford Peace Car" E. Hamilton, M. Hodgins, R. Findlay, Leslie Dale.

Boys' race—Frank Finnigan.

The Time to Act

The old saying has it "there is no time like the present." That this applies with telling force to the selection of good dairy cows, will be admitted by every thoughtful dairyman. Selection may be made on the evidence of certain well known external indications of good milking qualities with special attention paid to the udder, loin, skin, barrel, etc.

But no matter how skilled the expert judge of dairy "quality" in a cow may be, he is not infallible as to the amount of hard cash that any one cow in the herd will earn in a year. He may be the ordinary dairy farmer, too, may be considerably mistaken in his judgment. One system will give him accurate results, that of selection of dairy records. It is easy to weigh and sample, it is easy to add up a few figures for each cow, it is easy to compare such totals, and it is eminently satisfactory to know for certain which cows are best to keep and breed from.

Now is the time to act, prepare to keep records all season; write the dairy division, Ottawa, for free milk record forms, either 3 times per month, or daily. You will never regret it.

FATALITY NEAR COULONGE—On Thursday night last, John Armour, a resident of The Ridge, in the neighborhood of Coulonge, while on his way home from Wilson's mill, with a load, met his death at Dempsey's hill, through his sleigh overturning owing to the icy, and very sidling condition of the roadway, and his being thrown against a log. When discovered by Joseph Jeffrey of the Shade hotel, the man was quite dead, and his horses were standing across the roadway. Dr. Armstrong, coroner, went to Coulonge on Friday and held an inquest, when a verdict was rendered in accordance with the evidence elicited. It is said the sad affair may lead to an action being taken against the municipality of Mansfield.

THE EQUITY.

SHAWVILLE, FEB. 17, 1916.

Last week Sir Robert Borden introduced the resolution to provide for the extension of the present parliamentary term for the period of twelve months, and the Opposition, through Sir Wilfrid Laurier, assented to it, and the resolution passed without opposition. There were only two speeches in dealing with the matter—those of the two leaders—and they were of the highest order.

Sir Robert Borden the other day expressed the opinion, based on the information he had obtained in England, that the war was likely to last for another year and a half. This statement tallies pretty closely with what Lord Kitchener said at the outset, and as time wears on, it looks, unfortunately, as if the old soldier is going to prove too true a prophet. Another eighteen months of such war as the world has witnessed, seems too dreadful to contemplate.

German floating mines and submarines have destroyed nearly a dozen vessels during the past week, including a light British cruiser, a couple of mine sweepers, and one French armored cruiser, that was patrolling the coast at Smyrna. Many lives were lost with the sinking of the latter vessel. After March 1st Germany has given out that it will sink without warning every allied merchant ship, carrying guns, that her subs. come in contact with. Guns or no guns, this is practically what she has been doing right along. The presumption is that no allied merchant ship should resist capture when a Hun sub. shows up, but calmly submit to being sunk as a matter of course.

J. E. Bradshaw, Conservative member for Prince Albert, in the Saskatchewan Legislature, last week made a demand for a royal commission to investigate a series of charges against Liberal members of the Legislature in connection with the liquor legislation passed by the government of the province last year. Mr. Turgeon, speaking for the government, made light of the charges, said there was nothing in them and intimated that there would be no investigation. This is not surprising. Liberals in power have ever been averse to inquiring into their actions, and when perchance an inquiry was forced upon them, they took good care that it would never be finished. For example, witness the fiasco at Quebec a couple of years ago.

Now that Canadians are awakening to the fact of there being a number of aliens in Canada who are natives of countries with which the Empire is at war, and that many of these people are occupying positions of trust which could be well filled by Canadians, it is well to reflect whether or not such a situation is just the proper thing at this time of great national trial. Is it not vital to the public interest that all aliens of enemy countries should be kept under close surveillance until the war is over? It is well known how Germany is treating those of our people who were unfortunate enough to be trapped in Germany, Austria and Belgium when the war broke out. Reports of investigations show that few of them have escaped harsh treatment. Quite the reverse of this is the case at enemy internment camps in Canada, in England and in France. In this country internment for the German and Austrian means little if any hardship. Indeed, it is a fact that some of them are practically their own guardians, having only to report periodically to the government. And judging from certain things that have occurred, it is almost a certainty that this privilege is being systematically abused. It is growing more apparent of late—and this opinion is held by the majority of Canadians—that the only safe and sound principle to recognize in this matter is that all enemy sympathizers should be treated with distrust. Those naturalized as well as Canadian-born people of Teutonic origin, who have given unmistakable evidence of their loyalty to British institutions, and who have expressed their condemnation of German war methods, should not be included in the same category. They are entitled to fair treatment until they show that they are unworthy of it. It is inconsistent with human aspirations to suppose that Germans who have spent a lifetime here, enjoying co-equally with Canadians, the unfettered freedom which our democratic system affords to every law-abiding citizen, should be anxious to again put themselves within the grasp of a despotism the remembrance of which they must regard with aversion if not with dread. But the man who has not lived in Canada long enough to know and appreciate the spirit of true liberty, is the man who is worth watching.

Canada's Share in War Has Aroused Interest of the World.

War in the role of press agent for a country has perhaps never been thought of, let alone seriously considered. Yet the great god Mars must now be looked upon as publicity man extraordinary to Canada; for in the last year through war's agency Canada really has become known to the world far more than in years of peaceful growth. The following extracts from an article in the Utica Saturday Globe is typical of the eulogies which Canada's share in the war has earned in the press of the neighboring republic:

Until the war, very little was really known of Canada by people in the United States and other countries, though the Dominion Government had for years been conducting expensive publicity campaigns, which were augmented by almost as extensive ones carried on by the various provinces, says the writer. Of course, these publicity campaigns made the country known in many lands, but chiefly to prospective emigrants, at best a very small percentage of the entire population, and even these did not acquire any vivid conception.

It required Old Mars, with his thunderous voice summoning to arms, the clamor of preparation and the rattling of war chests, to bring Canada into the limelight.

Directly after Canada had become known as a participant in what comes near to being a world war, the various nations sat up and took notice. The Dominion began getting free space and plenty of it in papers from New York to Berlin, from San Francisco to Constantinople. Informed of what Canada was doing, the average German, Austrian, Russian, Frenchman, Italian and Turk and American, became cognizant that this land must be more than a wilderness peopled only along the coast lines—an opinion held by many.

On August 4, 1914, the country was perhaps the most peaceful, the least prepared of any in the world. Military training was almost a dead issue; there were not arms ready to supply more than an army of 30,000 men.

August 4, 1915, this same country, populated as it was with only 8,075,000 people, had accomplished what other nations were pleased to designate as wonderful.

In less than a year's time 170,000 men were mobilized, armed, equipped, and trained. One hundred and ten thousand were at the front or in England ready for active service. And all this from a nation of 8,075,000 people, nearly a quarter of whom were foreign born, or of foreign descent only one generation removed. Not only the Government, but the people individually from newsboy to millionaire took an active interest in helping on the cause of war. Over 1,000 machine guns, worth on the average $900 each, were bought by the public at large and presented to the Government as additional artillery for the Canadian troops. Farmers throughout the great grain producing areas of the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta set aside from one to ten acres of their seeded lands in the spring of 1915; the proceeds from which are now being presented to the Government. The various provinces made various donations of millions of bushels of wheat and oats and hundreds of thousands of bags of flour, as well as hay, fruit and other products produced therein. A patriotic fund amounting to $5,285,000 in aid of soldiers' dependents was subscribed to by the people, and, even with plenty of things to take their money, the Canadians still hastened to further empty their pockets by giving $20,000,000 to the relief of Belgium.

To-day the factories throughout the Dominion are working night and day getting out a $300,000,000 munition order. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, with the great buying organizations of the Canadian Pacific Railway to aid him, is procuring the thousand and one things needed by a country at war.

Even while busy with all these things, Canada found time to raise the greatest grain crop on record: 308,839,800 bushels of wheat; 488,000 bushels of oats; 51,655,000 bushels of barley, not to speak of 20,000,000 bushels of various lesser grains.

All the military preparations and accomplishments carried on in such a short time were marked by little of the confusion, costly blunders, and mistakes that occurred in the older land. Canada was of all things unilitary; yet the mobilization and everything connected with it was superior to England's, both in point of time and ready response of men.

Aid for Our Soldiers

Some readers of THE EQUITY may be interested to hear of the work of the "Soldiers' Aid Society," of Fort Coulonge, a little society which was formed by the women in March, 1915.

At the first meeting it was decided to sew and forward hospital supplies to the Ottawa Branch of the Red Cross Society. Fifty dollars was subscribed and the Protestant School Commissioners loaned the room over the school for a sewing room. Sewing machines were gladly loaned, and every Wednesday the women met and sewed, and pyjamas, hospital and surgical shirts, bandages, towels, pillow cases, etc., were made and sent away.

In August it was decided to ask for subscriptions from Coulonge village and vicinity. Collectors were appointed, and the following list will show the good results:

Village of Fort Coulonge, $115.25 Calumet Island, 44.54 Vinton, 37.55 Mansfield and the Chute, 31.45 Campbells Bay, 23.45 The Ridge and Davidson, 14.05 Waltham, 14.00

With some of this money material was bought and during September, October and November the women sewed and several large boxes were sent to Ottawa filled with hospital supplies and comforts for the wounded soldiers.

In January, 1916, the Society undertook to help furnish a ward of ten beds in the Sir Sandford Fleming Convalescent Home in Ottawa, and they supplied 20 pyjama suits, 10 dressing gowns, 10 pairs slippers, 10 chairs, 10 bedside mats, 5 dozen handkerchiefs, curtains for 5 windows, besides laundry and utility bags, 1 chifferon and 2 mirrors.

LOCAL NEWS.

HOCKEY

The scheduled match—Coulonage at Campbells Bay—on Wednesday evening, was won by the home team in a very close game, the score standing 5-4. The visitors warmed up to their work perceptibly during the final stage, and it looked to those who stood on the side, that they would have at least tied the score, had the game continued a few minutes longer.

An unsatisfactory feature of the match was the late arrival of the Coulonage team, which delayed play till after ten o'clock and caused a shrinkage in the gate receipts.

Shawville team scored the fourth consecutive win on Friday afternoon last by defeating the Quyon septet at the lakeside town, by the decisive score of at least 5 to 1. One goal, which was disputed, but officially allowed, is not included in the above count. Shawville was in much better condition than when Quyon visited here a few weeks ago, while the latter are said to have displayed rather poor form, hence play was somewhat one-sided.

Although none of the players were seriously injured, there was considerable roughness; but Referee Smith did not permit much to pass unnoticed, and the penalty bench at times had more than one occupant.

A large number of Shawville supporters including quite a bevy of ladies, braved the cold 16-mile drive to Quyon to witness the game, and attend the carnival which was held in the evening; and it is said the Quyon rooters had nothing on this bunch when it came to a show down. Of course the home fans were a shade handicapped by the way things on the ice were going.

Only three games of the schedule now remain to be played, namely, Quyon at Campbells Bay on the 16th; Coulonage at Shawville on the 18th, and game (Campbells Bay at Quyon) deferred Jan. 26 on account of bad weather. The date of this has not yet been fixed.

The investigation to ascertain the origin of the fire at the parliament buildings, will prove that it started in the reading room—and that is about all.

W. H. Sharpe, of Lisgar, Manitoba and John S. McLellan, of Sydney, N. S., have been appointed to the Senate. The former succeeds the late Senator Kirchoffer, and the latter the late Senator Wm. McKay. Seven vacancies are yet to fill.

Mr. Richard Blain, M. P. for Peel, has been appointed Chairman of the Railway Committee of the Commons, in succession to the late A. E. Lancaster. Mr. G. H. Brabazon, member for Pontiac, takes Mr. Blain's place as chairman of the committee of Waterways and Waterpowers.

The Men who Wear Hobberlin Clothes

¶ The customers one has on one's books is reasonably good evidence of the class of business one does. This is a test you can apply to The House of Hobberlin Limited, in any of their 1300 agencies and stores. The banker, the doctor, the man of affairs, are the customers of this House wherever you go. When it is possible to please these—not one season, but season to season—the reason seems clear for pleasing you.

Our iron-clad guarantee of satisfaction or money refunded goes with every garment. See the new samples and learn how good a tailored-to-measure suit can be given you for twenty-five dollars.

Child Lacks Hands or Feet.

Old Knox College on Spadina Avenue, Toronto, was inspected by Lieut.-Colonel Marlow and his staff recently with a view to using the building as a convalescent home for returned soldiers. The project has yet to be more fully considered. Estimates of the cost of fitting it up for the purpose are being drawn up and the matter will be submitted to the Government for consideration.

The old building is in many respects well suited for such a home, and its size will give ample room for expansion as the number of invalid soldiers increases.

A Light-keepers Gift.

A lonely light-keeper on the Atlantic coast, receiving only a small salary, celebrated Christmas by sending $16.25 to be used for purposes of the war in whatever way the department thought best.

Military Ski Corps.

A movement is under way to form a military ski corps in connection with the McGill Canadian Officers' Training Corps, under the auspices of the Montreal Ski Club.
